

Welcome

Welcome to the first of three open days for the consenting and pipework design phase of the Prince of Wales Reservoir.

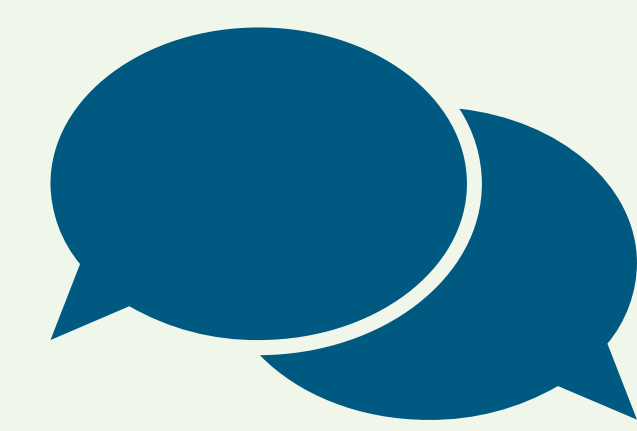

This is an opportunity for you to:

meet the team

find out more about the project and the needs it meets consider the engagement and consultation process we propose and highlight things you think we should consider as we draft applications for approvals and consents.

You'll also be able to sign up for updates to keep in touch as the project progresses.

Please read through the information presented here today, ask the team any questions you have and let us know your thoughts by filling in the feedback form.
